DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-9, drawn to automatic apparatus for attaching tags to articles, classified in class 493, subclass 376.
- II. Claims 10-19, drawn to an apparatus for attaching tags to articles, classified in class 493, subclass 375.
- III. Claims 20-29, drawn to an apparatus for attaching tags to articles, classified in class 493, subclass 377.
- IV. Claims 30-39, drawn to automatic apparatus for attaching tags to articles, classified in class 493, subclass 961.
- IIV. Claims 40-47, drawn to automatic apparatus for attaching tags to articles, classified in class 493, subclass 390.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions Groups (I-IV) and Group IIV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require to have laser means for positioning the tag holding means relative to the work surface. The subcombination has separate utility such as laser means for positioning the tag holding means relative to the work surface such that the tag transport means places each tag on the tag support means with the opening of the tag in alignment with the needle.

Inventions Groups (I-III) and Group IV are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require to have the tag transport means comprising a moveable carriage. The subcombination has separate utility such as the tag transport means comprising a moveable carriage, an arm carrying a suction cup adapted to engage a tag in the tag holding means.

Inventions Groups (I and II) and Group III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require to have means for mounting the tag holding means on the work surface. The subcombination has separate utility such as means for mounting the tag holding means on the work surface for independent position adjustment in two directions relative to the work surface.

Inventions Group I and Group II are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require to have the tag transport means comprising means adapted to engage a tag in the tag holding means. The subcombination has separate utility such as means adapted to engage a tag in the tag holding means.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
